

Citymesh – Project Manager

Here's what you'll dive into:

A European leader in B2B connectivity. From 0G to 5G, we're not just in the game, we're reinventing it. With our roots deep in B2B, Citymesh offers top-tier 4G/5G networks and innovative WiFi-as-a-service solutions.

Are you ready to elevate your career within a telecom pioneer that's reshaping the industry? This is your chance! Citymesh is looking for a Project Manager for their Citymesh Enterprise PMO team. As a Project Manager, you are responsible for the successful delivery of telecom infrastructure and connectivity projects, with a focus on Private Mobile Networks, LAN/WLAN solutions, and/or possible applications on these networks. You coordinate all project phases from start-up to execution and completion, ensuring alignment on scope, timing, budget, quality, and stakeholder expectations. In this role, you work closely with technical experts, clients, and internal teams to ensure projects run in a structured, efficient, and result-oriented manner.

Your job in a nutshell:

- End-to-end responsibility: You manage the end-to-end delivery of client projects within the domains of Private Mobile Networks, LAN/WLAN, and/or possible applications on these networks. This includes defining the project scope, planning milestones, monitoring progress and budget, identifying and mitigating risks, and ensuring that deliveries meet the agreed quality standards and client expectations.
- Connecting the dots: You act as the central coordination point between clients, engineering teams, technical specialists, and other internal stakeholders.
- Stakeholder management and communication: Clear communication, sound judgment, and strong follow-up are essential to maintain momentum in projects and effectively address project challenges.
- Project Management: You apply project management methodologies and best practices in a pragmatic way, balancing structure and flexibility in a dynamic and technically specialized environment.
- Continuous growth: You contribute to the continuous improvement of project delivery processes and ways of working.

These are your talents:

- 5 years of relevant professional experience as a Project Manager or in a similar role, preferably in the telecom or connectivity sector.
- Solid experience in Private Mobile Networks and/or LAN/WLAN environments and understanding of technically complex client projects.
- Sound judgment, allowing you to make balanced decisions in a fast-evolving and sometimes challenging environment.
- Strong knowledge of project management methodologies and their translation into practical execution. Planning, oversight, and structure, ...

- You are a strong communicator who can easily interact with clients, colleagues, and subject matter experts, in English as well as French or Dutch.
- You have strong organizational skills and the ability to manage multiple priorities simultaneously, maintaining an overview and eye for detail.
- You can lead project teams and enjoy working with technical experts and multidisciplinary teams, including in highly specialized domains.
- You are willing to travel approximately 3 to 5 days per month, depending on project needs.

What do we offer?

At Citymesh you will be part of an enthusiastic and ambitious team in which we greatly value your own input and believe in the growth of each of our employees.

We offer you a great opportunity to work for a fast-growing and innovative employer that operates as a challenger in the Belgian telecom market. Next to this, we also offer a wide range of benefits, including:

- A full-time permanent contract.
- An attractive salary package with fringe benefits such as meal vouchers (€8/day), eco vouchers, health insurance, CAO90 bonus, year-end bonus, net expense allowance, and an annual sector bonus in line with PC 200
- A cafeteria plan allowing you to optimize your salary with options such as multimedia, pension savings, etc
- A mobile phone subscription and the opportunity to purchase home internet at a highly discounted rate.
- Enjoy the benefits of a company car including fuel card or choose for a mobility budget.
- A modern, welcoming work environment where colleagues take center stage, making sure you feel truly at home.
- Flexibility and hybrid working aren't just promises: we ensure a healthy work-life balance through flexible hours and plenty of work-from-home opportunities.
- You work 40 hours per week, meaning that on top of your statutory holidays (20 days), you also receive 12 additional days off per year (for full-time employment).
- We have a genuine foodie culture: fresh fruit every Monday, homemade soup three times a week, and on Fridays, colleagues regularly enjoy grabbing fries together. Sushi lovers also frequently meet up for lunch.
- Our office in Oostkamp is easily accessible, located close to the highway exit.
